

N. VROUYR
ANNO 1917

Kilim Gharadagh

Karadagh (or Asbaran) is an area in NW Iran, in the upper part of province Azerbaijan where Turkish tribes settled down in the beginning of the 19th century. It became a khanate with its capital Ahar. It is a small community living in high mountains, restricted in number and often forgotten when Iranian tribes are described.

